The Best of PiS Party Hits

Last year turned out to be, like previous years, extremely creative for the ruling party. Success followed success, self-satisfaction level reached peaks, the populous is in the state of growing euphoria. So, it is wonderful, and it will be even more so because, we have at least 11 months ahead of us in PiS matrix. I invite you to read my personal ranking of the greatest achievements of PiS.

1 The skirmishes of the outstanding lawyer such as the President Andrzej Duda is, with the Supreme Court. The poor man, last year had to reach out for the pen seven times, because this is how many times they had to put before him corrections to their own, painstakingly written, bill. It seems that he had stopped reading them after the second take and signed, signed and signed whatever came his way. No matter the numerous inconsistencies. No matter that some of the subsequent corrections contradicted the former corrections. The Chairman ordered, Duda had to oblige. The man had gone so far in his zeal, that he signed the last one, which under pressure from EU, ruled to reinstate sacked judges in their jobs. Truth is, that this was very painful for him. Finally, however, the signature was deposited and I only have a thought that in the end, someone made it worse for himself. This 'someone' showed no expertise, no knowledge, no character. This 'someone' was a 'Lodger' of the Presidential Palace.

2 The protest of disabled persons and their families in the Sejm. Look the nation and learn how to treat those, who are so insignificant that the ruling party doesn't have to give a damn about them in search for votes. One can simply rebuff them and show that the party will not give in to their demands, that the party is strong and firm. And so, Szydło, leader of the Social Committee of the Council of Ministers simply rebuffed them in favour of the rafting trip in Dunajec. Prime Minister Morawiecki rebuffed them, minister Rafalska rebuffed them and the chairman Kuchcinski spread his wings of empathy and humanity on the protestors by banning them from exiting and re-entering the building, opening windows, using lifts, partitioning and covering while condoning manhandling by the security guards at the windows. From right to left, the party trumpeted that these disabled people were indulgent that they were the enemies who wished to destroy Poland. This was better than to admit that the EU had thrown in a lot of cash for support to the disabled, but this cash was spent on the pro-life campaign, as for PiS, only the foetus counts.

3 PiS and the European Union. For the part of 2018, we were hammered with the messages that EU is bad, that it harbours our money and we have to do everything ourselves, that it sponges of us mercilessly, it threatens our sovereignty, EU picks on us and won't let us live. Some called the EU flag a rag and relations with the Union was based on us rising from our knees. In the last few months, they talk about the EU in warmer terms and with a smile. They say that we are the heart of EU, the flag was returned to its place, the EU is important to us and we want it and love it. A miracle of sorts? No! Simply EU elections around the corner, so PiS is fighting for places for their losers, the ones who have failed in politics nationally but they deserve a perk in return for their loyalty, so let them go to Brussels and show off there.

4 Mixing Mr Ziobro in KRS. It must be admitted that this is a peak of mastery. Hellishly political Minister of Justice started to de-politicise the Council of the Judiciary this way, installing his 'chums' on the Council, or the friends whom he had recently promoted. Almost all of them are regional judges without any legal acumen. Few have heard of them and few know them, but most importantly, Mr Ziobro knows them and he knows that they will dance to his tune.

5 KNF scandal. One person taped the other, the tapes were blasted out and.. what PiS is doing? They are accusing the members of the Commission for Banking Supervision whose only fault is that they are PO descendants and they were missed out in the purges and who were investigating SKOK-Wolomin, obviously unsuccessfully, thus were acting against the interests of the PiS state. Generally speaking, this is not PiS's scandal and that's the end of the subject. I could write much more, because we must not forget the 'success' of the Climate Change Conference, the genius IPN rule, the achievements of Morawiecki who as an unborn baby fought against the communists, about Solidarity who sold its soul to the devil, i.e. PiS, about huge rewards for the members of the Szydło government, the bashing of farmers, dragging children through the Zaleska educational reform, the health service falling on its face or policemen who support the regime and forget about the Constitution. Maybe it is enough of this masochism. I prefer to look into the year 2019 with the hope that from November PiS will go on the dump of history and this is what I wish to myself and to you.
